Round recessed ceiling light with a 30° movable angle. Its satin nickel finish gives it a modern touch when lighting any room such as the living room, dining room or corridor. One of the main advantages of this recessed spotlight is that the light can be directed with a movable angle of 30°. In addition, the bulb is replaceable from the front of the fixture, without the need to uninstall it to access the bulb. The satin nickel finish is in great demand for the lighting of rooms with decorative metal elements or in grey shades as a combination. It is available in other finishes, all manufactured with high quality zamak injection Made in Spain.
